Headline:
Sunny spells and showers today.

Today:
A cloudy start with some outbreaks of showery rain in places. Perhaps drier and brighter in the far south, especially Kent and Sussex. Risk of further showers breaking out elsewhere during the day. Feeling warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Any showers will fade during the evening to leave a largely dry night, with some clear spells developing. Turning chilly in some prone rural spots. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Friday:
After a dry and bright start, the clouds will bubble up to give the risk of some showers, especially during the afternoon. Generally fewer showers than preceding days. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Rain moving northeast overnight will break up to give widespread showers on Saturday, with some sunny spells. Further heavy and thundery showers breaking out widely on Sunday and Monday.
